

Supervisor: Professor Yu Sun

Title: Development of a mechatronic instrument for three-dimensional mapping of mechanical properties in embryonic tissue

Description:

Mechanical properties have long been recognized to be crucial to tissue morphogenesis. The project aims to develop an innovative magnetic tweezer system to achieve three-dimensional measurement of mechanical properties in embryonic tissue. Mechanical design of the device, control circuit design, and computer vision