

Bio-oil use in burners and engines

Faculty advisor: Prof. Murray Thomson

We are working with companies in Canada, Finland and Brazil to develop burners and engines that can operate on a bio-oil, a biofuel made from wood waste. The student will work closely with postdocs and graduate students to conduct experimental research.

Murray Thomson murray.thomson@utoronto.ca

Research area: Energy